Hurton snaps course record

by Rick Cooke

It was Alumni Day for three former Tewksbury High School cross country runners Saturday morning in the second annual 7.2 mile Tewksbury Road Race.

Mike Hurton covered the course in a record 36 minutes and 27 seconds to outkick the other former TMHS distance aces, Jim Stronach and Bob Labadini, by a healthy margin.

Stronach, a senior at Boston State, also broke the previous record of 37.27 when he finished in 37.07. Labadini, a sophomore at Brandeis University, came home with a fine 37:43 time.

This however was Hurton's day. The University of Lowell senior, who is shooting for the Nationals in California later this year, took command early and wasn't about to allow either Stronach or Labadini to catch him with a finishing kick.

"I'm really just in training for cross country," offered an anything but dead-tired Hurton after the race. Hurton, who averages 95 miles per week running with his training mate Stronach, was surprised by the margin of victory. "A ran with Stronach for the first couple of miles, then I just took off on him. I was surprised I beat him by that much."

I've got one more year at ULowell and I hope to qualify for the Nationals-that's what I'm really shooting for," said Hurton.

Hurton has gone with a treatment that some cross country experts don't often consider when it comes to solving a nagging injury. A chiropractor has helped ease the pressure of a bothersome sciatic nerve. "I've had problems with my sciatic nerve and went to him for eight weeks and it's really helped. The problem that affects Hurton's legs, has been coming and going for a

Wilmington Softball League playoffs

Aslanis rally clinches title, 6-4

Aslanis Fisheries pushed across six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to wipe out a 4-0 Rocco's lead Wednesday night and go on to win the Wilmington Mens' Softball League championship.

The two teams finished with identical 4-2 records in the round robin playoff series but Aslanis gained the title via a 2-0 mark in head-to-head competition with Rocco's.

Losing pitcher Bob Aprile was the victim of some fly balls and bloops that should have been caught in that sixth frame, as he entered that inning having allowed only a bunt single by his brother Tom Aprile in the fourth frame.

A walk, singles by Bob and Bruce Butters and a Dave Newhouse Texas Leaguer produced two runs before an overthrow and a Dennis DeMaggio single knotted the score at 4-4.

Another Texas League hit and a sacrifice fly plated two more runs as the big inning was completed with Aslanis notching six runs on five hits and two Rocco errors.

Bob Aprile, Doug Harrison and Dana Mullarky each had two hits for Rocco's.

Aslanis turned a triple play in the fourth inning when with Rocco runners on first and third winning pitcher Dave Newhouse gloved a pop bunt, fired to Bob Hogg to firstbase for the second out before Hogg completed the triple killing with a perfect peg to thirdbaseman Dave Trickett.

In other round-robin tournament action last week Doyle's Hardware tipped D&D Gulf 5-3; Rocco's got by the Gulf men 9-6; and Doyle's Hardware upset Aslanis Fisheries 8-2.

Round-robin highlights:

Doyle's Hardware 5-D&D Gulf 3...Paul Gracia's two run triple ignited a three run sixth inning that pushed Doyle's and pitcher Kris Hinxman to the win.

Bill Blaisdell ripped a triple for the winners while Rich Peters, Bill Swan and Mark Peters each slapped two hits apiece for D&D Gulf. Roy Meyer was the losing pitcher.

Rocco's 9-D&D Gulf 6...A six run seventh inning sparked by Snooky Lynch's two hits and three RBI's spelled the difference. Bill Harrison spanked two hits for the winners while Bernie Wagstaff and Mark Landers each had two safeties. Bob Aprile hurled the win over Roy Meyer.

Doyle's Hardware 8-Aslanis Fisheries 2...Kris Hinxman fired a six-hitter with support from Rick McCully's bases loaded triple in the third inning when Doyle's plated five runs.

Tom Bromander ripped two hits for Doyle's while Ed Doherty led the Aslanis attack with two hits. John Trickett was the losing pitcher.

Playoffs

Aslanis Fisheries	4-2
Rocco's	4-2
Doyle's Hardware	3-3
D&D Gulf	1-5

All Star game

National stars roll, 21-11

The National and American Divisions of the Wilmington Men's Softball League hooked up in a wild slugfest in the league All-Star game at the Town Park last Thursday night with the National League clubbing its way to a 21-11 win.

Bob Stewart (Shawsheen Plumbing), Tom Bromander (Doyle's Hardware), Rick Koenig (Compugraphic), Bob Butters (Aslanis Fisheries) and Joe Schier (Compugraphic) all had two hits for the National squad that scored seven runs in the bottom of the third inning.

The American big sticks were wielded by Rich Russo of Dunkirk Express with three hits and Bob Noel (North Wilmington Shell), Snooky Lynch (Rocco's), Ralph Newhouse (Denim Depot) and Bernie Wagstaff with two hits apiece.

The National squad's big inning came in the third with seven runs while the American stars plated six runs in the top of the second.

Tewksbury softball playoffs

Warriors stun Caps Cement

The Demoulas Warriors have stunned regular season champ Caps Cement with a 2-1 lead in their best of five game semifinal series in the Tewksbury Softball League playoffs.

In the other semifinal series E.F.I. leads 5D's Raiders 2-1 in games with action set to resume at Livingston Street's Memorial Field Tuesday night (September 4).

After sweeping the Elks in two straight quarterfinal games, the Warriors picked up where they left off with two straight victories over Caps.

In the first game of the series Demoulas held on for an 11-10 win with Rick Hamilton (three RBI's) lashing a double and a triple among his three hits. Dave Dauyotas (two RBI's) also slapped three hits for the winners while Jim Peters and Jim Hamilton each had two RBI's apiece.

Butch Ernst and Steve Witham each had three RBI's apiece for Caps as Mark Bulloch pitched the win over Larry Kelleher.

Demoulas cruised to a 13-5 win in the second game of the series as Dennis Richards wielded a red-hot bat with a double, a triple and a home run accounting for eight RBI's. Bob Fowler rounded out the Demoulas offense with three hits and Tom Casey spanked three hits for Caps.

Warriors get by Elks

Demoulas edged the scrappy Elks in two straight games (5-4, 11-6) to reach the semifinals. Dennis Richards' fifth inning triple drove home three of the four runs in the inning as Dave Parola held on to earn the 5-4 win.

Dauyotas, Hamilton and Fowler all had two hits in the 13-5 rout and Rick Hamilton, Dick Burns and Parola each drove in two runs for the winners. Joe DelGrosso rapped two hits for the Elks, some of whom headed straight to the TMHS football camp for the start of another season.

Wilmington Mens' Softball League Commissioner Jack Cushing reminds all teams that the final league work night is scheduled for Thursday, September 6 at 7 p.m. All teams should be represented at the Town Park.

MVC Soccer Jamboree Saturday

The fourth annual Merrimack Valley Conference Soccer Jamboree is set for Saturday, September 8 at the McCarthy Stadium in Chelmsford with local teams Wilmington and Tewksbury taking on Lawrence and Billerica respectively.

Coach Bill Peabody's Wildcats, coming off a 1-10-1 season, the first losing campaign in their MVC history, will battle Lawrence in a 3:30 mini-game and coach Steve Levine's Redmen, 5-9-2 a year ago, take on Billerica starting at 4:15.

Methuen is the defending MVC champ and qualified for the 1978 Eastern Massachusetts Tournament along with Billerica in Division I.

Chelmsford will play Lawrence Voke in the nightcap at 5 p.m. Although not a member of the MVC in 1978, the Voke has played in the Jamboree since its inception in 1976. Lawrence Voke was second in the Commonwealth Conference in 1978.

Returning MVC soccer All-Stars include striker Bob Dascoli and fullback Ron Wallace from Tewksbury, Lawrence midfielder Jose Gonzalez and Billerica striker couple of years, he says.

Hurton, who qualified for the spring track Nationals in Illinois last year, didn't think his performance was exceptional for someone like himself who runs twice a day - covering 14 or 15 miles. "There was a little water (drinking, refreshment stations) out there. I felt alright. It's hard leading all the way because you can lose your concentration."

The two top finishers disagreed about the pace and flow of the race. "The third mile was the slowest of the whole race," Stronach told Hurton after they had taken a breather at the finish line. "No the fifth or sixth mile was slower," said the man who turned a close race into a head-Hurton-off-at-the-pass-hustle.

Top finishers: Wilmington's Mark Blaisdell was among the top finishers at 39:53. Mark runs for the University of Lowell. Four Tewksbury policemen ran, with Ed Martin coming home 11th (57:30), Al Stephens 119th (60:54), George Hazel 122nd (61:33) and Al Landers 138th (74:46).

Wilmington school teacher Ruth Johnson defended her Women's Masters title with her record 51:06 finish. The girls 17 and under winner was Tewksbury's Margaret McDermott in 67:22 while TMHS girls cross country coach Bob MacDougall was 24th in 43:18.

Tewksbury High School senior Dave Fudge placed 19th at 42:15 while Tewksbury runners Dave Crocker (32-45:35), Tom Mannion (33-45:43) and Mark Fougere (35-46:02) all ran well. Fougere was a cross country track captain at TMHS last year and is starting his freshman year at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst this week.

Ten-year-old Shawn McDermott of Tewksbury was the youngest runner and placed 129th at 64:52 while senior runner - 60-year-old Joe LaBella captured 13th place in 69:06.

Tewksbury's Cindy Bigley rounded out the local field with her 128th place finish and a 64:24 time.

Coaching gaps filled

DelGrosso, Fallon join TMHS staff

The Tewksbury school committee has officially filled two coaching positions as the varsity, junior varsity and freshman clubs are starting workouts for the season openers later this month.

Joe DelGrosso, a former Tewksbury High School standout running back in 1968-69 who went on to star for Jamestown College in North Dakota, was named the freshman coach last week, replacing John Donahue who resigned to pursue his education after last year's undefeated season.

DelGrosso, the Tewksbury High School varsity sports trainer for two years, was an MVC All-Star for TMHS in 1968 and in 1969 he helped lead the Redmen to the MVC co-championship while also being awarded Boston Globe All-Scholastic honorable mention.

The 1970 TMHS graduate went on to play at Bridgeton Academy in Maine for one season before transfering to Jamestown where he was that club's captain in 1974.

The 27-year-old DelGrosso has coached in the Tewksbury Pop Warner program and has scouted games for TMHS varsity coach Bob Aylward.

Fallon fills varsity gap

Tim Fallon, Lowell High's quarterback and captain during the 1974 season, fills the gap on the varsity staff that was created when Jim Kastritis moved on to an assistant post with ULowell head coach John Perreault.

Fallon played on one of the last Lowell teams coached by the late Ray Riddick and earned a reputation as another in a long line of fine Lowell High wrestlers with a State Championship to his credit.

Fallon graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst cum laude with his Bachelor of Science Degree in physical education.

The 22-year-old Fallon will split his physical education duties between the high school and the elementary schools, replacing Bob Vadeboncouer on the TMHS staff.

...h: Six wells and a possible source

The Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners have authorized their consultant, Weston and Sampson, to install six observation wells in the meadow area around the Chestnut Street well. The cost of each observation well is about $1,000 and the work is to start as soon as possible.

The purpose is to search for trichloroethylene (TCE). TCE is an organic liquid which is reported to be carcinogenic. It was the cause of closing the Chestnut Street well, about July 1.

Leo Peters, a member of the firm which designed the proposed water purification plant off Butters Row, wants to determine the extent of underground source of TCE, near the Chestnut Street well. He believes it is in a large area. He has found TCE in the now closed Town Park well, one mile downstream from the Chestnut Street well. He found there five parts of TCE per billion parts of water.

One place he wants to test is the vicinity of the old town dump, off lower Main Street. It is, he said, about 1400 feet from the Chestnut Street well. There is a brook that separates the old dump and the well. Peters does not believe that any leachate (i.e. liquids) from the dump reaches the well, but he wants to be certain. So do the commissioners.

Peters has some thoughts about the $600,000 which the Commissioners will ask for, at the Sept. 24 Town Meeting. The money is to be used to complete the construction of the proposed purification station, off Butters Row, and to construct a pipeline from the Chestnut Street well.

Peters does not believe that there will be enough money to also install machinery for the elimination of TCE.

Commissioner Arthur Smith observed that it was not important to get money for the TCE part of the plant now. The important thing, he said, is to start construction of the purification plant right away. It is needed as soon as possible to clean the water of the Butters Row well and the Town Park well of iron ore and manganese. He wants to get those wells back "on line" as soon as possible.

If more money is needed, to install machinery to take out TCE, it can be appropriated at the annual town meeting next spring, and the work done next summer, Smith said.

Smith believes the consultant may be able to find and use some of the old test wells that the water department has made, in his search for possible TCE coming from the old dump. Over the years the Commissioners have caused over 400 such wells to be sunk in Wilmington, in their search for sources of good water.

The water commissioners have a master map, for water supplies in Wilmington. It shows where every well has been sunk, in their probing over the years. The map has many little circles showing where test wells have been sunk. Wilmington, according to that map, has a severe case of the measles.

Source in Burlington?

Chairman George Allan, at the end of the meeting said that he believes the source of the TCE to be in Burlington. He pointed out that the brook which is near the Chestnut Street well rises in Burlington, near the junction of Winn Street and Cambridge Street (Route 3A).

Allan says that there are dry cleaning plants, in a large shopping center, at that junction. One of those plants, he believes, could be the source of the TCE, which is to be found in cleaning fluids.

The stream which flows from that point becomes the Mill Brook, in Burlington, and flows past the old Clapp's Mill, and into Wilmington at the Garden of Eden. It is quite close to the Chestnut Street well.

Allan is also questioning the results of the tests for TCE at the Chestnut Street well. The water to be tested, he believes, should be taken from a well which has been steadily pumped over a period of 30 days. He wants to be certain of the figures for the Chestnut Street well, before he accepts them.

Allan has been informed by the consultant that the cost of a private laboratory testing, for TCE, is $160. The state testing station, at Lawrence which made the Chestnut Street well tests, makes no charge. The work load at the Lawrence station is reported to be quite heavy, Allan says. Additional apparatus is being installed.

David's damage

Hurricane David caused only minimal damage in Wilmington last Thursday, having dissipated before it reached New England. In fact, when the storm hit, it was far to the west of Wilmington and no longer a hurricane, only a tropical storm. Power was lost in some areas of Glen Road when a tree blew down, at the corner of Gandalf Way, about 1:15 p.m.

Town may adopt parking fines

Wilmington selectmen are reviewing a revised set of traffic rules, the first to be compiled by the Wilmington Police Department since 1939.

Lt. Bernard Nally, who is responsible for the project, explained the new regulations to the selectmen Monday night.

Among the innovations they present, he said, is a schedule of fines of up to $15 for parking violations. These include $3 fines for routine violations, $5 for more serious ones and $15 for illegally parked vehicles which interfere with snow removal operations.

"If we are going to do any ticketing at all, $1 isn't worth the effort," said Nally.

Except for the new parking fines and a provision for "right turns on red," which will come into effect in this state in January, however, there are few deviations from the 1939 traffic rules.

"Old as they were, they weren't too bad," Nally said. However, he hastened to add that other changes may still be forthcoming as a result of meetings he will be having with the Massachusetts D.P.W.

Some aspects of the new rules, such as tow zones and pedestrian lights, technically illegal although already in use in town, will need Town Meeting approval before they can be acted upon. Others, such as the proposed parking fine schedule, must be approved by both the DPW and the local district court, Nally said.

Continuing in effect will be the towing of any vehicles which impede the town's snowplowing efforts.

One of the possible stumbling blocks in the new rules, Nally said, may be the enforcement of a 'no parking' regulation in fire lanes already established in local shopping centers. It is questionable, he said, whether or not the town can legally enforce 'no parking' on private property.

Town Counsel Alan Altman is expected to give an opinion on this issue.

Residents raise static for cable television

A group of Wilmington residents, ired at being offered cable t.v. service and then told it could not be installed, confronted Bruce Clark, general manager of the Greater Boston Cable Corp. (GBBC), in the selectmen's meeting Monday night.

It was the third such appearance of GBCC representatives in Wilmington in recent weeks, as each time the selectmen have received complaints of inequitable distribution of service from residents, they have sought explanations from company personnel.

Previously, complaints that some residents were not being offered cable t.v. were answered by the company's explanations that after the town's two franchise areas were completed, sometime in 1980, GBCC would begin extending its lines to areas which met the 60 homes per mile criteria.

However, when Salem Street resident Vernon Randall complained two weeks ago that he had agreed to subscribe with GBCC only to discover when the installers came to his door that the service could not be provided, the selectmen began to wonder if something less than ethical was going on.

According to Selectman Aldo Caira, the board was concerned that perhaps salesmen were being sent out into outlying areas to solicit potential customers and, if too few were forthcoming, perhaps re-evaluating or cancelling its plans to provide service there.

"By no means" was that the case, Clark assured them. In areas with fewer than 60 homes per mile, he said, an engineering survey would be conducted to see if cable installation would be economically feasible for the company.

We plan to complete the franchised areas before 1981, Clark said, and to begin 30 miles of line extension immediately afterward.

For Randall and other Salem Street residents however, this was little consolation.

"As far as I am concerned, you have already gone outside your franchise area by offering us this service," he said.

"I don't want to mention names," offered his neighbor Theresa Mercier, "but a local car dealer was recently fined $50,000 for advertising cars it did not have on its lot and could not sell."

"You made a committment and I think you are under an obligation to service these people," said Selectman John Imbimbo.

According to Clark, the Salem Street incident was a case of newly-trained sales people who were assigned to sections of Salem Street, but erroneously solicited subscribers on the entire length of the street instead. He said, however, he had not realized how many people were contacted in error and that he would look further into the matter and report back to the selectmen.

"I think there is a violation of the agreements they have had here with the board and this community," charged Selectman James Banda. He and Caira suggested that Town Counsel Alan Altman be directed to look into the entire cable situation.

Fincom hearing tonight

The Wilmington Finance Committee will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room the of the Wilmington Memorial Library on the warrant articles for the upcoming Special Town Meeting .

The only item on the warrant for the Special Town Meeting Sept. 24 is a bond issue for the proposed water treatment plant. The Water and Sewer Commissioners are asking an additional $600,000 for the plant. When bids for the plant were opened recently, all bids exceeded the $2.75 million appropriation previously voted.

Bloodmobile Thursday

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Wilmington Fire Department on Thursday, Sept. 13, from 2 to 8 p.m. Donors may call 658-4832 or 658-4747 for an appointment.

Brian Kane, Masami Onoda attract college experts

The creative writing and original art of two talented Woburn Street School students has recently received a great deal of well deserved recognition.

Brian Kane wrote the story "Why Rabbits Deliver Eggs' which, through the encouragement of his second grade teacher, Judy Corsetti and art specialist, Cynthia Mott, was beautifully illustrated by first grader Masami Onoda. The result was such that the teachers have been looking for an interested publisher.

The project, begun at the end of the school year, was completed this summer and along with photographs of the children working taken by Pat Hallisy, the schools' art director, was on display at Harvard's Gutman Library during the month of August.

Educators from Tufts University and Mass. College of Art who saw it expressed interest in it being scheduled for exhibit at their colleges as well.

The exhibit now at the Woburn Street School will also be on display in Wilmington during the month of October at various locations in honor of this, the International Year of the Child through the cooperation of the Wilmington Womens' Club and the school art department. The first location will be the Regional Health Center from October first to October ninth and at the meeting of the Womens' Club at the United Methodist Church on the 18th.

Creative children Misami Onoda and Brian Kane are shown with Mrs. Herbert Fielding of the Wilmington Women's Club, who attended a reception to honor the children for their art and creative writing.

Youth faces six charges

A total of six charges have been filed against a North Wilmington youth arrested last Wednesday by Wilmington police.

He was arraigned that afternoon on charges of possession of a class D substance, possession of stolen property, unregistered, uninsured, attaching plates, and a false inspection sticker.

Square dance lessons

The Skirts and Flirts Square Dance Club will be offering square dance lessons this fall, starting Thursday, Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. at the West Intermediate School, Wilmington.

The classes will be open for new members on Sept. 13, 20 and 27. The first lesson will be free. The instructor is Ray Aubut. For additional information, call 658-8470 or 658-3817.

Reception for Barbara Coursey

Barbara Coursey is to return home Thursday evening. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Homer Coursey of Frederick Drive, Wilmington has been teaching for the past 14 months in Ecuador.

Barbara lives in Quito, a city that is up in the mountains, and just about on the equator. She teaches handicapped children, using the Spanish language. She is returning to her post in about two weeks.

A reception is planned for Barbara Sunday evening, in the Congregational Church of Wilmington.

Correction

A story in last week's Town Crier regarding the stranded Japanese students incorrectly said that Mrs. Pat Gately had served with the U.S. Army in Japan. She served with civilian intelligence.

Four day week: no rat race at 'rat farm'

Charles River Breeding Laboratories has recently implemented a four-day, 36-hour work week for production area employees. A six-week trial period demonstrated that the plan was operationally feasible and warranted its permanent adoption.

The new schedule affects approximately 200 employees who handle the daily care of specially-bred laboratory rodents. In addition to a reduced work week, reduced commuting costs will benefit both employees and the nation-wide goal of energy conservation. With the new schedule, employees' hourly wages will increase so that gross take-home pay remains the same. Charles River officials said that the reduced work week will provide greater efficiency throughout production areas.

The Charles River Breeding Laboratories has production facilities throughout the U.S., Canada, France, England and Italy. The Charles River Companies are the world's largest producers of laboratory animals specially-bred rats, mice, hamsters, rabbits, guinea pigs and primates. The stock is traded over-the-counter in the NASDAQ System.

Woburn odor has new definition

The Woburn Odor is a description of the olefactory affliction which has been assaulting residents of the southern part of Wilmington and the western part of Reading for several years. It results from the uncovering of piles of hides and carcasses, by the construction of commercial and office buildings for the Mark Realty Trust, in Woburn. The hides and bodies have been in the soil for many years.

Monday there was a new definition.

The Woburn Times told of the discovery of minerals in the soil of the former Merrimack Chemical Company, and Tuesday's Boston papers also told the story, but not to the same degree.

An abandoned lagoon, of 34,918 square feet and five feet deep was found to be containated with lead and arsenic, and other minerals. Arsenic was found in concentrations as high as 1100 parts per million (ppm).

A nearby pit had a high concentration of chromium, 3,000 ppm in one place and 78,000 ppm per million in another. Lead was found in a concentrations of 1200 ppm.

A medical test states that between 200 and 300 milligrams of arsenic can amount to a fatal dose, for humans. At the 1100 ppm found in North Woburn each kilogram (2.2 pounds) of arsenic in the contaminated soil is enough to kill five adults.

Other wastes, found in high concentrations at the old Merrimack Chemical site include titanium (up to 11,500 ppm), copper (up to 1600 ppm in one place), zinc (up to 4600 ppm in one place), zirconium (up to 550 ppm in one spot), and antimony (100 ppm in one spot).

Federal field investigators of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) discovered the lagoon and deposits in July of this year. The findings of the EPA were filed in the federal district court in early August as a part of the proceedings of the US Army Corps of Engineers to obtain an injunction preventing the Mark Philip Trust from doing any more excavation or landfill in the industrial area around the site of the old Merrimack Chemical Company.

In addition to the findings of the chemicals, the EPA cited buried pits of animal hair, and barrels filled with spoiled slaughter house waste, believed to be, at least in part, the source of the so-called Woburn Odor.

The firm is now legally enjoined from doing any work near the chemicals discovered by the EPA. It may, however, continue on another site which is not near the hazardous waste.

The Times quotes EPA representative Russell Wilder as saying the most immediate hazard from the arsenic lagoon is the chance that workmen or others may breath contaminated dust. Russell was quoted as saying there was evidence of arsenic in surface soil as far away as the westerly embankment of Route 93.

No tests have been taken easterly of Route 93. Tests have found surface water dowmstream from the old chemical plant to have arsenic concentrations as high as 185 ppm, three times the allowable amounts for drinking water.

There is no evidence at this time, the Times reports, that arsenic has gotten into two wells, G and H, from which the city draws a part of its water supplies. It then adds that there is no evidence that it has not. The water, as far as the Times can determine, has never been tested for heavy metals, such as arsenic or chromium.

In 1850 the Boston & Lowell Railroad had a station at that site, called South Wilmington. In 1853 the Merrimack Chemical Company began producing chemicals used in the textile industry.

Another firm in the area was William H. Swift & Co. In 1899 Merrimack acquired that firm and took over the production of that firm's products. For the next 15 years, until 1914, the Merrimack Chemical Company was known as "the leading manufacturer of arsenical compounds for insect control in the U.S."

During those years, the Times says, the firm probably produced lead arsenate and lead arsenite, both of which are insecticides.

The Times says that no one knows for certain when the arsenic found was dumped into the lagoon, but that it is very likely to have occured during the 15 year period before 1914.

Numerous potentially dangerous chemicals were produced or handled at the site over the years.

In 1915, New England Manufacturing Col was established by Merrimack Chemical to produce TNT and other chemicals used in explosives.

In 1934 New England Chemical Industries bought the site. The firm was a producer of hide and bone glue.

From 1960 to 1971 it was the site of The Stauffer Chemical Co. Stauffer also produced animal glue and grease.

From 1853 to 1930 Merrimack Chemicals handled at times the following chemicals: sulfuric acid, muriatic acid, nitric acid, soda ash, salt cake, alum, nitrate of iron, bisulfate of soda, silicate of soda, hydrate of alumina, TNT, phenol, picric acid, sulfonating acids, nitrating acids, H acid, sulfide of soda, ethyl acetate, sodium hypochlorite, chromotrope, L-acid, Glauber's Salt, aqua ammonia, acetic acid, alumina compounds, dipilatory, tin crystals, tin liquors, perchloride of iron, and oxy-muriate of antimony.

The Times story credits Albert Balestrieri of North Woburn with the leads that led to the discovery of the arsenic.

Motorcycle-car accident injures Tewksbury woman

Wilmington police charged a 19-year-old Lowell youth with operating an unregistered and insured vehicle last Thursday, after a motorcycle he was driving collided with a car.

The accident, which took place on Salem Street at 10:45 a.m., resulted in injuries to a Tewksbury woman, Mrs. Shirley Kelleher. She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Lucille Dempsey of Westford.

Charges were filed against John Michardeau of 13 Appleton St., Lowell. He was operating a motorcycle in an easterly direction on Salem Street, and collided with Mrs. Dempsey's car as it was making a left turn at 125 Salem St.

Mrs. Kelleher was treated at the Regional Health Center.

He eats corn too

Aldo Caira of Chestnut Street, Wilmington, has just been elected first vice president of the National Order of the Sons of Italy in America. He is shown with Mrs Caira at the Wilmington Democratic picnic last Saturday.

Prudential plans building

The Prudential Insurance Company has plans for constructing an office and light manufacturing building in Wilmington. It is planned to be one million square feet in area, and will be off Fordham Road.

Prudential, some time ago bought the 40 acres and buildings belonging to Volkswagen. The Volkswagen company has since then been renting space from Prudential. The site is north of Concord Street, prominently located near Route 93.

The new building is planned to be constructed on the same lot. Several hearings are to be conducted in Wilmington in the next few weeks relative to the building plans.

Salt storage a problem for Wilmington

Salt has become both a problem and a necessity.

Each winter, highways are spread with salt, to melt the snow and ice. But that salt is now turning up in drinking water supplies, and creating other problems.

In addition to runoff from the streets, a major source of salt contamination is the areas where highway salt is stored and mixed with sand.

Wilmington stores its salt in a place known as "The Flowers." Located off Federal Street, it is near the back of Wildwood Cemetery, and was once used as a disposal site for wilted flowers and other debris from the cemetery. The land where the salt is stored is dry, but it is close to the wetlands that lead into the Ipswich River. The site is central to Wilmington, resulting in low trucking costs.

The salt problem had been detected a few years ago, in Burlington, where a well was contaminated by runoff from one of the highways passing through town. Last year, the state notified the towns of Reading and Wilmington that salt had been detected in their water supplies. Reading's problem is more severe than Wilmington's.

Two weeks ago the Governor signed a legislative bill that appropriates $1 million, for building salt sheds, in towns and cities. That is enough money, it is said, for about 30 municipalities. More may be appropriated next year.

It would be nice if a salt shed can be built. It must prevent salt from washing down into the wetlands. Highway department tractors and bulldozers, when they are mixing sand and salt in midwinter, must be able to work there. Is $30,000 enough! Can the town get the money?

If not, it would seem that another site is indicated. The Town Manager has talked over the problem with the Conservation Commission. The members of that commission must approve of any site close to wetlands.

From the town manager's viewpoint there is an additional factor. The state has cut the gasoline allocation for the town by 25 percent. A salt and sand pile mixing site thus cannot be out in the woods. It must be near the center of town.

After thinking over the various nuances last Thursday the Conservation Commission arrived at a consensus, for two sites. They would rather keep the salt pile where it is, if the town can get a shed, and prevent salt from leaching into the water.

The two sites recommended: The old playground in back of the Whitefield School, and the land in back of the old Center School, now the Curriculum Center, and the Town Hall Annex, next door.

Methodist Church School began classes Sunday

Classes began September 9 for children in the School of Christian Living at the United Methodist Church in Wilmington with nearly 80 children enrolled. According to Mrs. Carol Warren, superintendent, the attendance was excellent for the first Sunday of the new church school year. Classes meet each Sunday from 10-11 a.m. for children ages two through grade six.

A full staff of lay teachers, substitutes and aides has been recruited for the year, along with administrative and support-staff persons. The Rev. Marc Nagel serves as pastoral advisor for the School of Christian Living. The unified curriculum used throughout the school is published by David C. Cook and is both Bible-centered and life-related.

"Our School of Christian Living serves both the children of the church members and other children in the Wilmington area whose parents are interested in provoding for a solid Christian education," said the Rev. Richard L. Evans, pastor of the church. "Our entire staff is volunteer and the costs of curriculum and materials is supported solely by the voluntary offerings of the children and our church families."

Enrollment will continue throughout the month of September. Parents who wish to register their children or receive further information may call 658-4519 weekdays from 9:00 to noon or at the church school office before 10:00 a.m. Sunday.

Democratic barbecue

Sunny but cool weather was the order of the day on Saturday when the Wilmington Democratic Town Committee held its annual barbecue at Fred Cain's. Among the Democrats on hand were Rep. Jim Micell, Attorney Simon Cutter, Congressman Jim Shannon, and Paul Sheehy, a former state representative, now an aide to Shannon.

Politics no, food yes

While the politicians were busy talking, Laura and Cindy McCann were busy eating, at the Democratic barbecue. Cindy's smile indicates an obvious liking for corn on the cob.

Another call for the Minutemen

The border war with North Reading continues.

A few weeks ago the Town Crier reported how Rocco V. DePasquale, chairman of Wilmington's selectmen told a reporter from the Lawrence Eagle Tribune that the Wilmington Company of Minutemen was being trained to repel employees of the North Reading Department of Public Works. It was a fun loving story, a continuation of one that had started in North Reading. It involved a ditch that had been dug, to prevent vandalism, in the old road bed of the Salem & Lowell Railroad.

Not to be outdone, a North Reading man has entered the fray. This time the contestant is none other than the publisher of the North Reading Transcript.

He sent word to the publisher of the Town Crier that North Reading's DPW was seriously considering digging a trench across Fordham Road, in retaliation to the digging of that trench across the old railroad bed. It was a big joke of course. Fordham Road, always considered a Wilmington road, starts in North Reading.

The publisher of the Town Crier did not tell Rocco about the latest threat. That means that Rocco has had no chance to threaten to send the Minutemen to Fordham Road, but something new is developing. Fordham Road can be forgotten.

Heather Drive, in North Wilmington, near Park Street, starts in Wilmington and runs into North Reading. In the Wilmington part are several homes. In the North Reading part are none.

People on trail bikes use the road, as do others. It is an annoyance to the Wilmington residents. They have complained to the selectmen. They want the street shut off.

That is not easily accomplished. Planning Boards might have something to say. There are such things as public utilities, which have their own laws. Jim Banda, Monday night, expounded on the difficultues.

But selectmen Aldo Caira and Rocco had a few thoughts, too. Both involved the Wilmington Minutement.

Rocco thought it might be time to call out the Minutemen and post them on Heather Drive.

Aldo's thoughts went a little further. He thought it was time for the Minutemen to start polishing up that old Revolutionary War cannon they have acquired.

No action on Heather Drive

Uncertain of the legality of closing Heather Drive to through traffic, Wilmington selectmen have put off further action on that matter until a meeting can be arranged between area residents and builder Ralph Newhouse.

Newhouse is currently developing several house lots in North Reading, just over the town line, and uses Heather Drive as an access to that area. Since the road was accepted by the town and by the planning board, he says, it must be kept open.

Residents of Heather Drive, a Wilmington street, however, have complained that the through traffic encourages speeders and is a danger to their children. The road is part of a subdivision located off Park Street in North Wilmington.

According to Town Counsel Alan Altman, the road is a Chapter 90 road and cannot be dead-ended. However, he said, the town could vote at Town Meeting to abandon a portion, perhaps five or 10 feet, of the street, effectively making it a dead end.

Selectmen are hoping that a compromise can be worked out between Newhouse and the residents and that Town Meeting action will not be required.

Wilmington senior topics

Back in action

The Drop-in Center has, or will resume all of the programs for the year this month.

If the programs that have started are a sample of how the attendance will be, a large number of participants is anticipated.

Dance lessons

As of Friday, Sept. 7, dance lessons resumed at the center. There was a full house and the seniors danced all afternoon to the old stand-bys and to new dances taught by Fred McEvoy. Many new line dances are being presented this year. The classes are on Friday afternoons from 1:00 to 4:00.

Arts and crafts

Another successful week of arts and crafts lessons was held at the Drop-in Center. This is becoming one of the very popular programs. Many beautiful articles are being made. Classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10:00 to noon.

Exercise program

The Exercise Program, under the direction of physical exercise instructor Liz Magee, will be presenting exercises oriented to the senior who might be recuperating from a sickness that requires him or her to do a certain amount of exercise to strengthen bodies or for a senior who just wants to keep in shape. These are light exercises. All seniors who attended the classes last year were happy with Liz's instruction. They are looking forward to resuming the program on Stpe. 17. If you would like to join Liz, the exercise program is held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Monday mornings from 11:00 to noon.

Rodeo

On Thursday 50 seniors attended the rodeo at the Shriners Auditorium sponsored by the Council on Aging. Many of the seniors had never seen a rodeo before. All who attended enjoyed themselves.

Bowling program

The Bowling Program for the seniors is also resuming for the fall. The program is seeking new members. Anyone wanting to join the senior citizens bowling league (another good form of exercise for seniors) should call the Drop-in Center at 657-7595 and be put on the list. Rides are usually available.

Hot lunch

The Hot-Lunch Program for the fall has resumed. Anyone desiring a meal should call 657-7595 and make a reservation before noon the day before the meal is desired. Nobody should go to the site without a reservation. Persons without reservations will probably find that there will not be a lunch for them. Tewksbury-Wilmington soccer preview

Redmen, Wildcats in wide open MVC race

by Rick Cooke

For the first time in several years it's anybody's championship in the Merrimack Valley Soccer Conference and Tewksbury and Wilmington both figure on at the very least being in the pack of teams gunning for that title, with thoughts of winning it very much in the minds of the players and the coaches from both squads.

Defending champ Methuen lost several important soccer studs to graduation, while Billerica is not the clear cut favorite to pound a whole lot of people into the MVC pitch this fall.

That leaves the door wide open for a dogfight in what shapes up to the most heated MVC soccer race in many years. The Jamboree, played before a disappointing crowd at Chelmsford's McCarthy Junior High School Saturday, clearly gave credence to the claims by coaches Steve Levine, Bob Manzi (Tewksbury) and Bill Peabody and Dick Scanlon (Wilmington) that no one team will run off and hide in 1979.

Austin Prep, Methuen, Billerica, Tewksbury, Wilmington and Chelmsford all appear to be evenly matched as the season got underway Tuesday (Sept. 11).

As is the case in most preseason camps, optimism is running high in both Tewksbury and Wilmington, but this year it doesn't look like that all that hope for fine, competitive seasons is unfounded.

Tewksbury Redmen

Head coach Levine has a good balance of returning seniors with three years experience to go along with several juniors and sophomores who have benefited from action in Tewksbury's growing spring recreation soccer leagues.

The Redmen will have more players returning from last season's 5-9-2 squad than any other team in the MVC. Tewksbury lost only goalie Mike Morgan (Framingham State), fullback Paul Busser (Boston University) and midfielder Carmen Frederico (ULowell) to graduation.

Levine has every reason to be confident in the fourth varsity soccer season at TMHS. The Redmen records read 1-13-2 ('76), 6-8-2 ('77) and last season's 5-9-2 mark.

"This is really the first varsity soccer team we've had here," offered Levine at last Friday's practice before the 2-0 Jamboree setback to Billerica Saturday.

Levine and his "first varsity" squad will be bolstered this season for the first time by a junior varsity team coached by Bob Manzi, longtime hockey assistant to John Corbett. Now, says Levine, he has a training ground to draw from during the course of this season and for seasons to come.

But it's that senior group with those three years of experience in the Tewksbury system that could be the force that gives the Redmen their first winning season in their brief history.

Tewksbury returns senior MVC All-Stars Ron Wallace (fullback) and Bob Dascoli (midfielder) to the fold along with senior fullback Bob Calistro who will tri-captain the team this year with Wallace and Dascoli.

Six other starters return and they include senior forwards Rick Catanzaro, Jack Vultaggio and John Dunlevy, midfielders Mike Barlow and Ha-Sok Chun and fullback Andy DeVita, who is back bigger and stronger than ever this season after missing 12 games a year ago with an ankle injury.

The juniors who should see their share of varsity action are fullbacks Mike Langlois, Mike Mara, Paul Morgan and Dean Joyce, midfielders Steve Vultaggio and Scott Patterson and backup goalie Jim DiLuca.

The sophomores cracking the varsity lineup are forward Mike Dascoli, midfielder Bruce Crochetiere and goalie Rich DeMaria.

Actually, DeMaria has done more than just make the squad. He'll be Tewksbury's starting goaltender when the season opens and his coach doesn't consider Rich to be just another netminder learning his trade.

"He's got the moves of Billerica's Aaron Rood (former Indian All-Star goalie). He's without a doubt the best goalie I've worked with in the four years that I've been here. He's confident. About the best word I can use to describe him is that he's emotionless," praised Levine.

The Redmen have had a busy preseason, with five scrimmages before last Saturday's Jamboree. Acton-Boxboro, the 1978 Division II semifinalist, edged Tewksbury 3-2 in the opener, Greater Lawrence was blanked 5-0, TMHS tied Bay State League preseason favorite Framingham-North 1-1, lost to Wakefield 2-0 in what Levine admitted was his team's worst scrimmage, and belted Woburn 3-0 to finish the preseason at 2-2-1.

Levine likes the league's wide open status and fields it bodes well for his team's first winning season. "To be honest with you, I'll be extremely disappointed if we don't have that winning season. Methuen, Billerica, Chelmsford and Tewksbury will all be tough and I think a team with three or four losses could win the championship," offered the TMHS coach.

"I think we can honestly win the championship this year," observed Levine." I think any coach in the league can say that this year. Anybody can beat anybody else on any given day and the team that can get up for the most games will win it."

The Redmen, who lived and died by their defense for the early part of last season and most of the previous two, have started to find the net of late and their coach hopes that Wallace, the other fullbacks and DeMaria won't have to bear the brunt of the action in the early going.

Levine is also one to reminisce about the hard times that helped his team get where it is today. "Two years ago we were 5-3-2 after 10 games. Then John Hurley (Fitchburg State) got hurt and we won one game the rest of the year. I also remember that first season. We didn't score a goal in 10 straight games, "recalled the Tewksbury coach, who hopes he has fonder memories of the 1979 campaign.

Wilmington Wildcats

"I respect Wilmington a lot, they had the second worst record in the league (1-10-5) last year, but they could be right in it this year," cautioned Tewksbury coach Levine.

Whether the Wildcats are a serious contender or not is still very much open to speculation, for their coach Bill Peabody is never one to come right out and say that his team is a bonifide contender.

Peabody, a veteran of several MVC soccer wars, has done a good job of keeping this Wilmington team under wraps. All he and first year junior varsity coach Dick Scanlon will say is that this is an improved team over last year and that the conference race is indeed wide open.

Wilmington got it's first taste of a losing season a year ago, after 10 years of challenging for the MVC championship and a berth in the Eastern Mass Tournament. The Wildcats last qualified for the tourney in 1977 before last year's fall to the second division.

Although the Wildcats are small in numbers the quality is there in the persons of 16 returning lettermen. Wilmington lost All-Star fullback Mike Shay to graduatioa, but several

Wildcats blank Lancers, Redmen fall

Wilmington, behind Steve Scanlon's two goals and the shutout goaltending of John Gagnon, blanked Lawrence 2-0 in the Merrimack Valley Conference Soccer Jamboree before a sparse crowd at Chelmsford's McCarthy Field Saturday.

Coach Bill Peabody's crew pressed the Lancers from the outset, thoroughly outplaying their MVC rival throughout the 18 minute mini-contest.

Coach Steve Levine's Tewksbury Redmen hung tough against Billerica before bowing 2-0. The first period ended in a 0-0 standoff with Tewksbury holding a slight edge that was capped by a shot rung off the post by tri-captain Bob Dascoli in the waning seconds.

The Redmen took a long look at several underclassmen in the second stanza when the Indians pocketed their goals scored by co-captains Jim Murphy and Kevin Courtney. Coach Bill Alteri's team played without first string goalie Gary Schermahorn who is sidelined with an injury.

In other Jamboree action Saturday, Chelmsford topped Greater Lawrence Regional 1-0; St. John's Prep got by Andover 2-1; and Austin Prep and Methuen fought to a 2-2 deadlock.

Pop Warner football

Chargers blank Waltham, 12-0

Wilmington's C team Chargers opened its 1979 Pop Warner football season Sunday with a 12-0 win over Waltham as a rock-ribbed defense fired by Pete Campbell, Sean Bell, Kevin Sutton, Ed Sampson, George Fuller, Tim Foley and Kelly Murray helped shut down the home club's attack.

Sean Connors got Wilmington its first score when he scampered 11 yards to paydirt behind the excellent blocking of Ed Silva and Chuck Cushing. The insurance touchdown came on a 50 yard bolt around left end by John McLaughlin, who was sprung by key blocks thrown by Kevin Sutton and Ken Ferrari.

The offense was directed smoothly by quarterbacks Fred Ryan and Russ Lydon and featured the pile driving runs of Pete Campbell and Jonathan Hensey.

The Chargers will be conducting their second annual sticker drive throughout Wilmington this Saturday morning Sept. 15. All contributions and donations will be appreciated.

The next Pop Warner C-team game will be Sunday, Sept. 16 when the Chargers travel to Dracut.

Freedom Trail Road Race

Wilmington runners to compete

Seven Wilmington runners will be rubbing elbows with some of the top marathoners in the world when over 3,000 compete in the Hood Freedom Trail Road Race set for Sunday, September 16 starting at 11 a.m. from Boston's Waterfront Park.

The Wilmington runners competing are Skip McCarthy, Ron Batchelder, Joseph Burke, Peter Ciampi, Chuck Connor, David Curran and Dale Emands.

Several world class runners will be competing and they include Olympic hopefuls Bill Rodgers (a three time winner of the Boston Marathon), Greg Meyer, Randy Thomas, top women runners Joan Benoit-winner of her division in the Boston Marathon - and Ellison Goodall, winner of the recent Falmouth Road Race.

No matter who wins the race this year, that person will set a world record, since this is the first time an eight-mile race has been certified and sanctioned by the A.A.U., according to race organizers from the Greater Boston Track Club.

Also competing in the race are two of the best collegiate runners in the nation, Alberto Salazar apd Rudy Chapa, both from the University of Oregon.

Salazar holds national titles in both the cross country and 10,000 meter events. Chapa has the distinction of running the fastest 5,000 meter time ever by a collegian, breaking the long standing record held by Steve Prefontaine.

Lawrence General Hospital is making an attempt to keep peiple fit while they are still very much on their feet.

The LGH Employee Association is sponsoring the First Annual Dr. Paul F. Donahue Memorial Road Race, a 6.8 mile course on country roads around Lake Cochichewick in North Andover, Sunday, October 14. The race is sanctioned by the New England Amateur Athletic Union.

Race planners hope to include special athletic programs for children in addition to the main race in the future runnings of this annual event.

A two-mile fun run begins the day's activities at 11 a.m. Beginning runners- especially children- are encouraged to enter this race.

The 6.8 mile race begins at noon. There will be water stations, splits and mile markers provided along this paved course. Free t-shirts will be given to all pre-registrants for the 6.8 mile race and the pre-registration deadline is October 5.

No problem

Demoulas Warriors thirdbase coach Dave Parola makes sure Dave Dauyotas knows he'll have no problem scampering back to bag as Caps' Bill Kelleher waits for throw that never came.

Tewksbury Softball Championship

Murphy pushes 5D's into 2-0 lead

Joe Murphy fired a five-hitter and Mickey Sullivan scored the game's only run as 5D's Welding moved to within one game of the Tewksbury Men's Softball League championship with a 1-0 victory over regular season champs Caps Cement in playoff action at Livingston Street's Memorial Field Monday night.

Five D's now leads the best three of five game series 2-0 after winning the first contest 3-1 Friday night as Murphy outdueled Caps righthander Jerry McAneney.

The two ace righties hooked up in another pitching gem in game number two, with the score deadlocked at 0-0 after six innings. Sullivan reached on an error to lead the top of the seventh and eventually came around to score the game winner.

In the bottom of the seventh Murphy set down Caps in order, notching the first out when Sullivan fielded a bunt down the firstbase line and made a fine pick up and peg to second-baseman Don McLaren covering the bag.

The third game of the series is scheduled for Tuesday night (Sept. 11) starting at 6:30 at Memorial Field.

If 5D's doesn't close out Caps then game four in the series is slated for Wednesday night. If a fifth game is needed it will be played Friday night.

The Welding crew reached the championship series with a three games to two elimination of E.F.I. E.F.I. had taken a 2-1 lead in the series with a 12-5 win as Ken Meuse led the attack with three hits. Jim Meuse, Richie VonKahle and Kevin VonKahle each spanked two hits for the winners.

Ken and Jim Meuse combined for six RBI's and Kevin VonKahle drove in a pair. Ken and Jim Meuse combined for six RBI's and Kevin VonKahle drove in a pair. Five-D's player-coach Ron Outridge paced his club's offense with two hits.

Bor Rauseo pitched the win over Murphy, and he was helped by a seven run E.F.I. outburst in the bottom of the third inning.

Caps Cement, after falling behind two games to one to the scrappy DeMoulas Warriors, rallied to win the final game and advanced to the championship series.

Teddy's top AllStars 7-4 in Tewksbury League windup

The Tewksbury Recreation Girls Softball League wound up its season Saturday with an exhibition game between the Teddy's and the All-Stars followed by a cookout and presentation of awards at Livingston Street's Memorial Field.

Louise Smith and Carol McGrath pitched the Teddy's to a 7-4 win as their club got on the scoreboard first with an unearned run in the top of the first inning that featured an unassisted doubleplay by firstbaseman Bernadette Pacini who turned the twin killing with the bases loaded to cut short the Teddy threat.

The All-Stars knotted the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the first inning when Robin Riddle singled, Karen MacDougall walked, and Bernadette Pacini walked to load the bases before Susan Rheault singled home Riddle with the first All-Star run.

All-Star shortstop Chris Kiernan turned in a fielding gem in the second inning that saw Teddy Sheila Laskey lining a base hit to centerfield. Kiernan's gem helped strand Laskey and keep the score deadlocked at 1-1.

Carol McGrath singled, moved to third via errors and scored on Joanne Bolton's hit as the Teddy's took a 2-1 lead in the third inning. Missy Riddle also cracked a single to leftfield in this frame.

An unearned run scored by Patty Murphy in the fifth inning gave the Teddy's a two run edge. The Teddy's iced the game with four unearned runs in the fifth.

The Stars made things interesting with three runs later in the game as Jane Ravagni forced one run in with a walk and Diane Consaul plated two more with a line single to centerfield.

Colleen Coffin rapped a single for the All-Stars while Teddy's Missy Riddle (two RBI's) Patty Murphy (RBI) and Louise Smith (RBI) all helped fuel their team's offense. Catcher Smith also made a super snag of a pop up. Robin Riddle and Kathy Krugh shared the pitching duties for the All-Stars.

Extra bases...The game was followed by a cookout and a presentation of awards. League director Mary Maguire was on hand to thank all who participated in the program. Two expansion teams were added to the Intramural League this year, giving that circuit 14 clubs.

The Tewksbury Teddy's, the town's travelling team, enjoyed a banner season under first year coach Donna Tanner, qualifying for the playoffs
